TESTING THE MODEL

One of the main benefits of model-based testing is that it helps to ensure coverage. The test cases cover all positive and negative paths and combinations. This type of testing also has the benefit of being able to cover more complex scenarios that might be difficult to test with other methods