UTILIZATION OF ALGORITHMS

Algorithms are a sequence of well-defined instructions that computers can implement in order to solve a problem by performing operations like calculation, data processing, automated reasoning, and so on. Machine Learning uses algorithms to process data in order to extract patterns depending on the applications.